GIANTS WIN FIRST GAME BY 3 TO 2

SLOSSON MAKES RECORD RUN IN CUE TOURNAMENT

In Twenty-ninth Inning He Rolls Up a Total of 153.

HE STARTED POORLY.

Student Couldn't Get His Stroke, but Soon Forged Ahead of Morningstar.

George Slosson made the record run of the international tournament in today's game with 157 morningstar at the Madison Square Garden (Nassau Hall). In the twenty-ninth inning "the student" rolled up 153. This beats the previous high mark made by Slosson, which was 123.

The score at the end of the thirty-third inning was: Morningstar, 30; and Slosson, 65.

Morningstar was the star performer at the start, knocking off 105 points in the first seven innings, in which his best runs were 25 and 45. Morningstar made several pretty shots that pleased the crowd, among them a three-ball shot that was a screamer. Most of his points are in the line were entirely in open table play.

Slosson was unusually slow in getting into action, and a nervousness was shown when he missed early shots which seemingly would have been covered by billiardists away below his class. In this respect he played in a similar manner to Slosson on the previous day.

Morningstar's position work was good, his stroke delicate and his idea of distances almost perfect. His run of 65 in the tenth inning was the result of good billiards, and more than 40 points were gathered in during the upper roll with cleverly executed short drives and gathering shots when the balls had spread beyond the narrow confines in which he usually held them.

PARKHURST RAID ON HAND-BOOK MEN

Three Men Picked Out of a Wall Street Saloon Crowd and Arrested.

What agents of the Parkhurst Society are one of the oldest and most popular handbooks in the downtown section was raided to-day by Superintendent McClintock and detectives from the Old Slip station, who arrested three men in a crowd at the saloon No. 115 Wall street. There were hundreds of young men picked about the tables, where racing sheets were displayed. For a time there was the greatest excitement in the neighborhood, but because of a fire on South street, and because of the rarity of raids in Wall street, the three men arrested and James Martin, who lives at Smith & McNeil's, James Stiles, of No. 45 Pearl street, and John White, of No. 363 Pearl street. All were arrested before Magistrate Whitman in the Centre street Court and held in $1,000 for further examination April 17.

Not the least strange part of the affair was Superintendent McClintock's statement that he was requested to get evidence against the place by Commissioner Bingham. McClintock said that Bingham turned the case over to the Parkhurst Society. The evidence was secured by WILLIAM A. Hartman of No. 210 East One Hundred and Twenty-third street, one of McClintock's agents. He says that he got down three books yesterday. One of them, 22 on Housatonic, at 4 to 1, netted him $5, but he lost on Duomo and Strongarm.

SHOT WOMAN, THEN KILLED HIMSELF.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 12.—Herman Koenig, of Minneapolis, is dead, and Mrs. E. E. Bootman, supposed to reside in Ironwood, Mich., is dying, as the result of gunshot wounds inflicted by Koenig this afternoon. Koenig is sixty years of age.

Game in Rhyme as Play Went On.

By Walter A. Sinclair.

They start the year with noise and cheer,
And not with bricks and stones.
The Quaker band extends the hand;
There are no broken bones.
Gay is the day. The bandmen play,
The teams trot to the field;
The ball "Play ball!" determines all
To right and never yield.

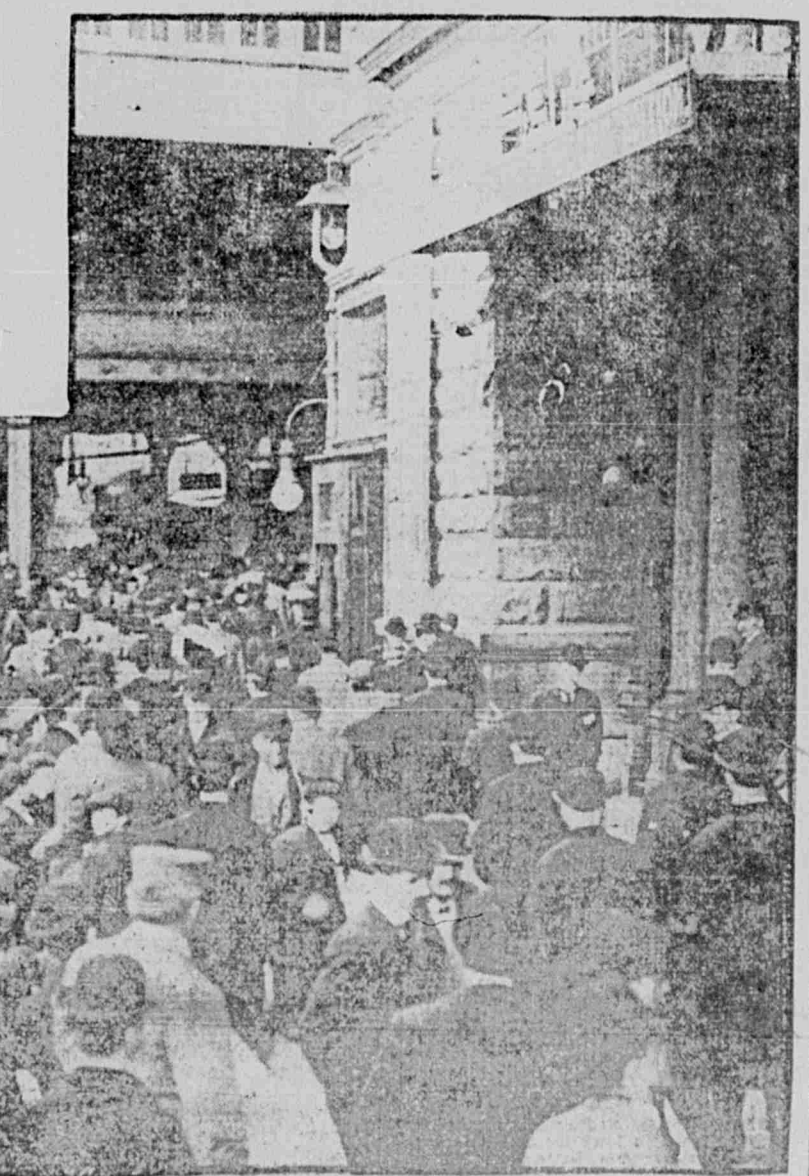

And sent him on to first,
Lush got in front of Brownie's hint.
At second Roger died;
Donovan threw out Brownie, too,
When stealing base he tried.

The Donlin smashed, McGann just skipped.
And Mertes followed swift.
Two runs were capped; but Sentelle copped.
The one that Dahlen biffed,
The Quaker claims did not touch Ames.
He sent them off and over.
They fanned and tried; they bunted,
died.
But didn't make a score.
Sentelle to scare goes in the air,
Lush Davlin way to third;
Then Bresnahan proceeds to fan
Dov homeward with a tid.

Now at the plate doth Titus wait
Till Ames has passed him four;
Then on a hit by Donlin sent
He brings the one lone score.

Don took a slide, McGann then died
And Mertes slammed away.
Where Gleason caught and quickly shot
The ball in double play.
The Philly side all quickly died.
In one-two-three they fell.
In timing four none made a score
And there is naught to tell.
In inning five, no man alive
Reached home on either side.
In Inning Six, the scores fix.
No hits could override.
In vain we wait through Seven, Eight,
But now in Inning Nine,
Philly gets on, and then it's done.
The Giants win it! Fine!

BALL SEASON OPENS IN WEST

The baseball season was opened in Cincinnati and St. Louis with the regular ceremonies. In Cincinnati, where Chicago played, 20,000 fans turned out. In St. Louis, where the Pittsburghs lined up, the weather was threatening, and this kept the attendance down. The game was one of the best seen in the Round City. Up to the tenth inning neither side had scored.

20,000 FANS AT LEAGUE OPENING

Ames Pitches a Great Game Against the Philadelphia Team, Holding Them Down to Five Hits.

BY BOZEMAN BULGER.

(Special to The Evening World.)
NATIONAL LEAGUE PARK, PHILADELPHIA, April 12.—The New York Giants this afternoon started off on the season of 1906 by defeating the Quaker team by a score of 3 to 2. Twenty thousand fans cheered the players, and a big New York contingent urged McGraw's Champions on to victory.

Ames pitched a great game, holding the Philadelphia players down to five hits. The Giants made nine hits off Lush, three of which were made by Donlin.

Remembering the fearful accident some years ago, the gates were opened at noon to prevent any possibility of a crush. Even at that hour many fans were waiting. They began pouring in as the gates swung open, until by 1 o'clock the stream of humanity was flooding traffic on adjacent streets. The car lines were then formed under police guidance, and fans stretched out like huge black serpents for two blocks in three directions.

Hummel's First Regiment band began a concert at 1 o'clock, and this kept the crowd entertained. They seemed satisfied to wait for nearly three hours for the privilege of a good seat. Not a complaint was heard in any quarter.

From the bleachers to the private boxes nothing but good humor prevailed. It was a gala occasion and that bitterness which marked the visits of the Giants last year was missing. No stones were hurled at carriages this time. Everybody had their hats off to the champions of the world.

Cheered the Giants.
At nearly every corner on Broad street cheers greeted the Giants as the carriages bore them to the grounds at Huntington street. All the way it was "Good boy, Mike!" "Pine work, McGraw!" "Hello, Dan!" and "Where's Matthewson?"

Promptly at 2:30 o'clock the Giants entered the field, the familiar strains of "Tannum" filled the air and to a man the crowd rose and gave three cheers. In their anxiety to give due honor to the champions of all baseball clubs the quaker rooters came near alighting their own team. As the clubs marched across the field together, however, Hugh Duffy and his men were given an ovation.

At 2:30 P. M. the real ceremonies began. In a far corner of the field stands a tall white pole which for years has floated the American flag. It was built for the pennant, but has never qualified. Around this the two teams rallied. The players marched down the field

OKENITE WINS, BUT STEWARDS DISPLACE HIM

Belmont's Two-Year-Old Fouled Orphan Lad at Start of Race.

(Special to The Evening World.)
BENNING'S RACE TRACK, WASHINGTON, D. C., April 12.—Everything pointed to a good day's sport here today. The track has dried out nicely. The steppechase attracted many of the club members and their friends, as cross-country races always do. In the opening event the scratches were very numerous, the light-weighted horses having no chance with the classy three at the top of the list. The attendance numbered about 3,000.

Pater Smothered the Field.
There seemed to be a disposition to pass up Pater in the opening, as having too much weight. Race King caught the smart play, with Pater also well supported. When it came to running, however, Pater smothered the field, winning, eased up by two lengths, from Bohemia, which nipped Race King a nose on the post for the place.

Belmont's Okenite Disqualified.
Okenite, the odds on favorite, breezed the stretch, but there was little credit attached to his win. Orphan Lad, the logical contender, was put on the fence at the far turn and knocked ten lengths out of the race. He closed with a tremendous burst of speed through the stretch, but, of course, too late to catch Okenite. The Belmont colt won by four lengths from Orphan Lad, which was six lengths from Black Knight.

Lucky Shows Improvement.
Upon report of the starter Okenite was disqualified for crossing the first sharply at the start and fouling Orphan Lad.

Lucky ran away with the third race, showing a definite improvement under McDaniel's riding over his previous race for Jones. Lucky broke badly, but ran all around the field and opened up a gap of five lengths on Tickle, with the others strung out, many lengths behind.

Lucky, though the latter looked as if he would like to sink. Waddell II, the outsider, was third.

Favorite Ran Second.
Yama Christy, at 4 to 1, led all the way in the steppechase, winning easily by six lengths from the favorite, Percussion. Harry Taylor was a distant third. Valley Forge fell at the third fence.

Lotowanna Wins, Eased Up.
Lotowanna, from the Altamira Stable and starting for the third time, annexed the maiden race with extreme ease. She raced away in the lead, and Knapp made every pole a winning one. At the end Lotowanna was eased up six lengths before High Brush, which was second all the way. Adria came from last to match third place from Trilla.
